

The paper represents the approach for residual non- uniformity evaluation after two-points linear non-uniformity correction. The approach takes into consideration parameters of an imaging system, reference source, non-linearity and noise of multi-element photodetector.

Full article